Nomasis now with MSSP status from Lookout

Nomasis, the provider of solutions and services for the secure business use of mobile devices, has been certified by Lookout as a Managed Security Service Provider (MSSP). This gives companies the opportunity to obtain scalable licences from Nomasis as well as managed services from Nomasis in connection with Lookout's mobile endpoint security products for the iOS/iPadOS and Android device platforms from Apple and Google Android. To achieve MSSP status, Nomasis sales, presales and technical staff have been trained and certified on Lookout's Mobile Threat Defence (MTD) systems. "An MTD system protects smartphones from known security incidents. Security requirements often change over time and need to be adapted to the new circumstances of vulnerabilities and misconfigurations," says Patrick Trevisan, Head of Sales, Marketing and Product Management at Nomasis. "This requirement can be permanently adapted and improved with our managed services for Lookout."

The Managed Services for Mobile Threat Defence aim to process incidents, vulnerabilities, changes and security-relevant actions and to actively maintain and improve the protection of the smartphones, apps and networks involved. The service includes incident management, end user support, surveillance and monitoring, system optimisation and adjustments through to service meetings, covering all activities relating to an MTD solution such as Lookout. The Lookout app protects company-owned and employee devices from phishing attacks, can proactively detect threats and monitor mobile devices for security vulnerabilities and app risks. Lookout Mobile Endpoint Security also enables compliance requirements to be met and employee privacy to be protected.
